

LOCAL.

Cotton planting is going on now at a sharp rate in this County.

The new street is to be opened soon. Let her come Mr. Mayor.

Dick Kortjohn was at the Baptist Church on Sunday-night last.

The new census will probably give Orangeburg County another member to the Legislature.

The Democracy all over the County are jubilant over the recent triumphs of their party at the North.

Rowe's Pump is getting up in the world in improvements. The place is thriving fast.

We publish elsewhere in to-day's issue of the News and Times the delinquent land list.

There is some talk of a joint stock company being formed here, for the purpose of building a large hotel.

Mr. E. Ezekiel has the finest garden in Orangeburg. His cabbages are great big things.

Mr. Adden is in his new store. This is the third time he has risen from the flames.

Tuesday night last was nipping cold. Frost fell slightly, and gardens suffered the consequence.

What a pity that the trees in the Court House Square were not trimmed in the proper season.

Mr. Adden has fenced in the cellar under his late store. Capt. Briggmann, you are next in order. Mr. A. is ahead of you.

The young ladies who form the choir of the Lutheran Church were practising on Wednesday afternoon last at the church.

Why don't the young men of Orangeburg get up a brass band? There is musical talent in Orangeburg, and we should like to see it cultivated.

Wallace Cannon has fine garden plows for sale. Those in want of something of the kind can get it by calling at his store.

A yardling never feels like barking until his master begins to get sleepy. Then he will howl at the sound of a cricket. Provoking, ain't it?

Augusta sent five hundred dollars over to the sufferers in Edgely from the recent storm. Generous for that city.

F. DeMars keeps always on hand a first-rate supply of groceries. The smiling John English is with him, and will be glad to see his friends.

Augustus Fischer has a new advertisement in another column. Read it and give him a call. Jim Cannon is with him, and has something good for everybody.

There is less litigation in Orangeburg now than has been the case for several years back. This speaks well for our Trial Justices as well as the good order of our community.

Miss Anna Dickinson lectured in Columbia on Wednesday evening to a large audience. The local of the Union Herald fell in love with Miss Anna's beauty.

The law office for Messrs. Izlar & Dibble will be completed shortly. The rooms are large and airy, and will suit first-rate to deal out sound legal advice in.

A sturgeon five feet long was caught in the river near here in a bow-net last week. Our informant looked real greasy from having gorged himself on "fish."

We understand that the Temperance Society contemplates getting up a picnic sometime next month. The occasion promises to be an interesting one for all those whose motto is cold water.

Are the fowls that range in the Court House Square public property? If so we move that the County Commissioners give a dinner at their next meeting, and invite the public officers and the press to partake with them.

The Governor has made no appointment of census taker for this County yet. We have no idea who he will appoint, but hope that the appointment will not be given to a man who will not prosecute the work faithfully. The United States Census gives Orangeburg not quite three hundred inhabitants. We want no such census taking here again. Give us a good man and we shall be satisfied.

P. S. Since writing the above we learn that M. W. H. Girardeau has received the appointment. This is a most excellent choice, and will give entire satisfaction to the people of the County.

A serenading party was out on Tuesday night. There is something in the wind. Men never do such things purely to exercise their vocal organs. There's love about there somewhere.

There is a certain unpharisaical gentleman who holds forth on the North side of Main street, who is exceedingly fond of hard boiled eggs. He has an original way of cooking them.

The General Assembly passed 179 acts at its last session, 36 public acts 56 acts of Incorporation, 68 private and local acts, 15 special tax acts, and left 4 in the hands of the Governor. This body was in session 123 days.

The base ball season is here, and yet we hear nothing from our young men in relation to the matter. Why not call your clubs together, gentlemen, and commence a series of games?

It is proposed that our members of the Legislature assemble here on some sale day and render to the public an account of their stewardship. Good idea. What do you think of it, Representatives?

North Carolina is to have a Convention shortly to amend her Constitution. We were under the impression that an instrument of that kind, when once adopted in that State, could never suffer any alterations. The tar-healers, we thought, would stick.

Dr. H. R. Wittberger, agent for Columbia's famous druggist, Dr. E. H. Heinisch, was in town on Monday last. He appeared to be a jolly, good fellow, and as sound as the House he represents. Dr. Heinisch is one of the best medicine men in the country.

Hon. W. H. Reedish has had built a neat two story residence for himself at Branchville. This is the fifth house erected by him since the war, thus showing a decided spirit of enterprise and a desire to improve our sister town.

A rumor has obtained circulation in some parts of the county that William Auld, who was executed here on the 2d inst., is still alive and at large in the country. The report is false. William Auld is as dead as Julius Caesar, and will never be seen in this world again.

If you want a first rate paper, racy and up to the times, subscribe for the Greenville Daily News. It is sometimes a little breezy, but that is because it is published at the foot of the Blue Ridge and edited by spicy Speights.

It is said that the new Comptroller-General and the State Treasurer, work in harmony together. This is as it should be. Comptroller Dunn is now where he can watch the Treasurer, and it is not supposed that that officer will attempt to violate the law a second time.

We acknowledge the receipt of a complimentary invitation to be present on the 22d inst at the Anniversary of the "Philosophical Society" of Furman University. The orator of the day will be George W. Gardner of this County, and the essayist T. E. Lake from Greenville. The day will be an interesting one.

Moses Brown, the barber, is always prepared to wait upon his customers, and has a reputation for making an ugly man look pretty. His establishment is kept neat and well appointed. Those whose scalps need rubbing up should pay their respects to him at once. He has all the modern appliances to be found in first-class barber shops.

We have a very respectable depot, an accommodating and industrious agent, and now we want the Railroad Company to give us something else. We want to see a large lamp put up at the depot for the benefit of the public. All the passenger trains arrive here in the night, and it looks bad for the Company to thrust their passengers out in the dark. Will you give us a lamp, Mr. Superintendent? If you don't we intend to go for you with our gloves off. Having nothing special to write about this summer, we'd soon hammer away at you as any body else.

A stroll down by the river is real pleasant of an evening now. The voice of birds, commingling with the sound of rippling waters, makes the place most eloquent for lovers. And then to sit down under the branches of some wide spreading tree, and talk of the tender passion—how nice! Who wouldn't be young and have a sweetheart?

The shad that passes Branchville have courage sans peur to such an extent that when it reaches here the fishermen should lift their nets out of the water for pity's sake and let it go by happy. It would be as easy for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle as for a good fat shad to come Scott free, by Branchville. Fishermen are plentiful here.

A subscriber sent the NEWS AND TIMES back to us a few days ago, with "jackass" written on the margin. I said subscriber will let us know at what stable he can be found, we will forward a receipt for what he owes us. He seems to be corn fed now, and has concluded to shirk the responsibility of paying for his paper by allying himself with the long eared species of the animal kingdom.

We have been presented by that excellent and successful farmer and planter Dr. W. F. Barton with a bunch of Barly and a bunch of Black, rust-proof Winter Oats, which we venture to say can't be beat in the State. We heard a friend from Faderland say, on seeing the bunch of Barley, that it could not be beat in the old country. Call at our office and see what this County can do in the way of growing small grain.

There were three or four Union Soldiers shot at Branchville, in 1864, and are buried between that place and Edisto river in an old field. As their graves have never been disturbed, we suppose what is left of them still remains in the small spot of earth assigned to them by the men who buried their bodies. We do not suppose their relatives at the north know anything about the manner in which they were put out of the world.

DR. T. BERWICK LEGARE—We are pleased to know that this gentleman has recently moved to Camden, for the practice of his profession—that of dental surgery. Dr. Legare is a gentleman of the first type and as perfect a master of his profession as one seldom meets. We knew him well in Orangeburg, and we know the excellent reputation he there maintained as a dentist. Having thrown his fortunes among us, we most cordially recommend him to our fellow citizens.—Kershaw Gazette.

We are requested by Samuel Dibble Esq., Chairman of the Commissioners of Election, to announce that he has received a part of the money to pay the expenses of the last General Election. Managers can receive their shares of the same by calling upon him at his Law office. The Managers of any Poll can authorize one of their number in writing to receipt for the entire amount for such Poll. No money will be paid to any one but the person entitled thereto, except upon such written order.

There is a certain gentleman in Orangeburg whose general demeanor and style of dress, are sufficient to betray his desire to spice himself. He patronizes the barber regularly, goes to church every Sunday, sits away up near the pulpit, has quit drinking whiskey and, it is said, contemplates taking charge of a Sunday School. He is never heard to swear any more, and goes as neat as a pin. Of course the young ladies will notice and approve of all this, for—

"Can such things be,
And overcome them like a summer's cloud
Without their special wonder?"

SHOES FOR THE COUNTY—Mr. G. W. Prunson, one of Mr. Cornelson's trump cards, showed us through his shoe department the other day. To say that he has shoes for the people, is just the idea, and the manner in which Brunson expressed himself to us. He has boots, shoes, gaiters, (hand made) of all sizes, styles and prices. The farmer, who wants a substantial piece of work to cover his foot, and the young swain, or lassie, who always prefer looks to anything else, can all be suited at Cornelson's. Mr. C's stock of dry goods, groceries, &c., &c., is complete. But his supply of boots and shoes are, par excellence, the best in the Burg. If any one doubts what we have to say about it, let them call on Mr. Brunson and ask to be shown that stock of shoes for the people.

Mr. C. D. K. got mad the other day, and threatened to break up keeping store because our devil slipped in a line or two last week, charging him with having purchased a quantity of dream books. Dick had no dream, and bought no books. He is a quiet, prosy old gentleman, and doesn't believe in woman's rights, the use of chignons, switches, or any thing not given to her by nature. He is against all innovations, and says that newspapers should never be used to supply any natural deficiency in either man or woman.
